

Socials Sorcerer:

Let's cut to the chase—here's what might (or will) suck about working for me:

1. I'm obsessed with results – It's not about being perfect; it's about knowing the end goal so clearly that we can get there swiftly and efficiently. If you're someone who truly understands the impact we're trying to create and can execute with precision, we'll get along just fine.

2. I'll challenge you, & you challenge me – I'm blunt. If something isn't right, I'll tell you why it sucks. But I expect the same from you. If you've got a better idea or think I'm wrong, I want to hear it. We'll push each other to create the best work possible.

3. Pace is fast – This is not a laid-back gig. I move quickly and expect you to keep up. If you thrive in a dynamic environment where things happen at lightning speed, this could be for you.

4. I'm a workaholic – I just really love working & am obsessive, so with that I will often message in the evenings/weekends with ideas, you don't have to reply but just an fyi (airplane mode exists for a reason)

Now, if you're still reading, you might just be the creative genius I'm looking for...

Job Description:

Socials Sorcerer: you'll be responsible for creating the content for our clients (videos, imagery, written), making content to be utilised in their socials, site & sales process. You'll be putting our clients on camera to create the messaging they need to draw in their ideal clients, partners & team. Then managing the relevant social media accounts to draw those people in.

Posting, engaging & sliding in the dms.

You've seen the PDF overview on Pink Panda, you'll be working with a Marketing Maverick & Web Wizard.

The MM will work directly with our clients on their Marketing strategy, that will be designed to accelerate their business plan & remove their challenges in business.

The WW will create all the web assets (website, landing pages, quiz/questionnaires, etc) utilising the content you create for our clients.

Sound good?

Send your CV (don't make in boring- you're a content creator after all) & show us how great you are :)

The Details:

Full-time employed role in the new year.

But between now & then I'd like to get to know each other & get you doing some part time work to start with recreating the Pink Panda website (so you'll be making content for us)

Send your response to: pinkpandaapplicants@gmail.com

Pay:

Full time: £25Kp/a, with performance pay & shares in the company (subject to time in the company & performance)